Location

- which library?
 - Mills
 - Innis
 - Thode
 - Health

Where in the library?

- Mills Bookstacks
- Mills Reference
- Mills Gov Pubs
- Mills Periodicals
- Mills Research Collections, etc

What's the Availability?

- Check shelf
- Checked out
- For use in library only
- On order
- In process
- In storage, etc.

What if you don't have a title or author, just a topic?

- Searching on a topic
 - title keyword
 - subject hotlinks
 - subject browsing

Tips & Tricks

- Break your topic into key words or phrases (main ideas)
 - humanitarian assistance, disasters
- Combine keywords using ‘and’
 - humanitarian assistance and disasters
- Think of synonyms
 - aid or relief
- Add synonyms using ‘or’
- Use brackets around synonyms
 - (aid or relief)

Tips & Tricks

- Use asterisk symbol * (truncation) to retrieve plurals and alternate endings e.g. canad* retrieves
 - canada
 - canada's
 - canadian
 - canadians

Tips & Tricks

- Use quotations to search phrases
 - “humanitarian assistance”
 - “doctors without borders”

Put it all together!

“humanitarian assistance” and (aid or relief) and canad*

Try this in Keyword(s) Anywhere

“humanitarian assistance” and canad*

Review

- Library catalogue: to find books & other items the library owns
- Location Guide: to find out which floor
- Topic searching: title keyword, subject/subject keyword

Articles defined

- Articles are published on an ongoing basis, in various sources such as:
 - newspapers (daily)
 - popular magazines (e.g. weekly)
 - journals (e.g. monthly, quarterly)
 - trade publications (e.g. weekly, bi-monthly)
 - online only

Journals defined

- Journals are often “academic” or “scholarly” because the articles within them are:
 - written by and for researchers/academics
 - long, in-depth
 - no advertisements
 - include references or a bibliography

Peer-reviewed defined

- Many, but not all, academic or scholarly journals are also “peer-reviewed” because the articles within them are evaluated and examined by experts in the same field of study before publication to ensure accuracy/credibility.

It is very reputable to have your article published in a peer-reviewed journal!

JOURNAL TITLE

- Canadian journal of political science

Databases – What are they?

- locate articles by subject, author, etc.
- what exists but not necessarily what's in the library
- some have
 - full text of the articles
 - citations (references) only
 - abstracts (summaries) of articles

How do you find articles in these sources?

- Go to the library home page and click on the “Databases” tab.
- Find Databases by NAME (by Title or Keyword)
 - SOCIOLOGICAL ABSTRACTS
- Find Databases by SUBJECT
 - BROAD SUBJECT SOCIAL SCIENCES
 - SUBCATEGORY SOCIOLOGY
- Select the Databases(s) you want to search from the “Results” list

Sociological Abstracts

- covers the international scholarly literature in sociology and related disciplines
- over 620,000 abstracts of journal articles
- 1,800+ journals
- 1963 to the present
- book reviews, books, book chapters, dissertations, and conference papers
- unlimited simultaneous logons

Challenge!

Find articles about ...

(3 minutes)

Internet in the age of globalization

Avoid the most common mistake in searching e.g.

internet in the age of globalization

- search engine tries to find that exact phrase
 - you get 0 results

Tips & Tricks

- Use and to combine key words and phrases; use quotes around phrases
 - internet and globalization
- Use or to broaden your search (synonyms)
 - (computer or internet)
- Use truncation (*) to retrieve plurals and different endings
 - computer retrieves computer/computers/computerization

Putting It All Together

(computer or internet) and globalization*

The “One Good Article” Strategy

- to focus your search
- find 1 good article
- use language from descriptors (subjects) or authors to get more

Do We Have Access to the Article?

- click  ...to see whether the library has an online or paper subscription to the journal
- we may have:
 - one or more online subscriptions (e.g. #?)
 - one or more paper subscriptions (e.g. #?)
 - or both, or neither

Output

- saving or emailing your list of references

- printing or photocopying an article

Photocopying in The Libraries

- Journals are Non-Circulating
 - (they don't go out)
- Photocopy machines
 - self-service; all libraries; no cash
- Library Debit cards: dispensers or Bookstore
 - $3 - $20
 - $2 for card; then 10¢ or less a page

The Library Printer Network

- printers in Mills, Thode, Innis, Health Sciences
- send from any library computer
- uses library Debit card
- same card, same cost as photocopying (10¢ a page)

Review: Finding Articles

1. use e-article databases to find articles
2. use Get It! or the library catalogue for availability
3. download, email, or print references
4. finding articles on the shelf: photocopy
 - call number, volume, year, page, etc.

Why use a book for information?

- Books often provide a broad overview of a topic;
- Books are good sources of background and summary information
- Books might be used to understand a topic initially and to provide a context

[image credit]

Why use an article for information?

- Journal articles are shorter than books, therefore they usually have a narrow focus and provide specific information
- Journal articles are usually intended for an academic audience
- Journal articles are published frequently, therefore they're usually more up-to-date than books
