

How to Search MLA

You need some articles for your essay.

Start at the library homepage. Click on 'Articles and Databases' and type in 'MLA'.

From here, click 'International MLA bibliography'. Here we are at the search page.

To find articles on your topic just put your search terms in the boxes provided.

Let's search for articles on Mrs. Dalloway and trauma.

To limit to peer reviewed, just click the peer reviewed button.

And then search.

Here are the results.

We have five.

To read the full text of the article just click the "get it" button.

From this page you can read the full-text by clicking here (full text available for e-journals) or here (full text online).

Let's go back to the main search page and do another search. This time, let's make our search a little broader: 'Mrs. Dalloway OR Virginia Woolf AND criticism OR analysis.'

Let's check that peer reviewed box and then click search.

Here are the results. To read more, just click the blue hyperlink.

This is the abstract which is a short summary of the full-text. To read the full-text just click the 'get it' button.

To read similar articles click cited by or similar articles.

Don't like citing articles?

Just click the cite button.

Use the drop down menu and then click change.