INNIS LIBRARY: EXISTING PROGRAM

Innis Library, located on Level 1 of Kenneth Taylor Hall, supports the academic and research interests of commerce students and faculty in the DeGroote School of Business.

The largest single program component at Innis is learning space (77% of space in Library) with the majority of the learning space considered “general learning” at open tables and chairs, computer stations which support technology, and silent study (69%). Specialized learning space at Innis consists of group study rooms and accounts for 8% of the total area.

Collections at Innis represents 16% of the total program. Its strengths include human resource management, industrial relations, management, marketing, information science and systems, finance & accounting, international business and business ethics.

Staff area comprises 9% of the total Library space with workspace for 7.4 FTE staff (including 2.6 FTE students) and a service desk area.

A detailed existing building program is provided in Appendix A of this report.
